

I, solely, pay for my telephone service. There can be no question regarding the fact that I alone have the right to restrict who uses that telephone service.